DINING GUIDE

2012·2013

A PUBLICATION OF THE DOWNTOWN PHOENIX
PARTNERSHIP

FROM THE EDITOR

Anna P. Consie

Welcome to the Downtown Phoenix Dining Guide, our annual celebration of everything dining in Downtown. ■ Like any good recipe, this year we started from scratch by inviting local artists, writers and residents to take a major role in creating the guide. All the contributors live, work and play Downtown, truly making this a community publication. ■ We issued a call for artists to create the cover, commissioning Downtowner Christina Mesiti, who painted a romanticized snapshot of Downtown. We also asked folks to vote for their favorite restaurants across 11 categories — the results are along the bottom of the editorial pages. Finally, we took your advice and added dozens more restaurant listings. We've expanded our coverage area to include Greater Downtown — up to Portland Street on the north, Lincoln Street on the south and 7th Avenue on the west. ■ Want to have your voice heard next year? Email me at aconsie@downtownphx.org. ■ I hope you enjoy what we've cooked up. Bon Appetit. ANNA CONSIE

MUST-DO FOOD

Downtown Phoenix has thousands of great food items, but I only have 400 words to describe them. It's time to get as creative as our restaurants. How about a ... haiku?

*So much sauce and cheese
Who makes Downtown's best pizza?
BIANCO, says "O"*

or a limerick?

*There once was a woman named Mandi
Who craved a sandwich of pastrami
She searched high and low
For grub that doesn't cost much dough and found perfection at
THE DOWNTOWN DELI*

Sophomoric poetry aside, as someone who has spent nearly three years watching Downtown evolve, while eating pretty much everything that wasn't tied down, I feel a profound responsibility to share my Downtown Dining Bucket List — those morsels I strongly urge you to enjoy before leaving our fair city. Or the planet.

SPEND A NIGHT WITH NOBUO

James Beard Award-winning chef Nobuo Fukuda creates art at his historic NOBUO AT TEETER HOUSE digs in Heritage Park. Whether you've come for the reservation-only omakase (chef's choice) or casual nibbles of izakaya, you won't leave disappointed.

ROOMS WITH A VIEW

For an upscale night on the town, take in 360-degree views at ARIZONA COMPASS GRILL, the rotating restaurant located atop the Hyatt Regency Phoenix. The Hickory Crusted Cowboy Steak and Cedar Plank Grilled Salmon are two standouts. For a more casual setting, check out the indoor/outdoor patio at COPPER BLUES, where you can feast on artisan pizzas while enjoying the city views and one of the over 60 beers on tap.

FACE THE BIG UNIT

Named after former Diamondbacks pitcher Randy Johnson, ALICE COOPER'S TOWN offers the most intimidating hot dog in town. The three-pound Big Unit is a nearly two-foot hot dog crammed into a baguette and smothered in chili, cheese, bacon, onions, tomato, relish and sauerkraut.

PUT ME IN, COACH

Sports fans who love comfort food will appreciate the menu at COACH & WILLIE'S, where you can watch your favorite teams while devouring epic sandwiches, pizzas and pastas. Pair the Three Alarm Burger with the famous Lobster Bisque. Boom.

SOME LIKE IT CALIENTE

SAM'S CAFÉ serves up big plates of refined Southwestern fare with Native American and Spanish influences. Camp under the stars on the patio while enjoying "Limit-2" margaritas, sizzling fajitas and renowned Pancho's Enchiladas.

I hope these recommendations will spur you to create your own Downtown Dining Bucket List.

GOING MEATLESS

IN DOWNTOWN PHOENIX:

IT'S EASIER THAN YOU THINK.

Veggie
Vegan

In my childhood home of “meat and potatoes,” the words vegetarian and vegan were not a part of my vocabulary. In the past few years, however, I’ve found myself appreciating, even craving, a meal that doesn’t involve meat. As a new Downtowner looking for vegetarian and vegan-friendly options nearby, I am left pleasantly surprised and, dare I say, hungry.

PROVINCE

Chef Rita French and her friendly staff serve up three meals a day, all with vegetarian/vegan options. For dinner, start with their popular Goat Cheese Fondue made with melted queso de mano, pickled vegetables and served with pretzel crisps. Or, try the Heirloom Tomato Salad that’s lightly tossed with a cava vinaigrette, made fresh with local ingredients. The non-traditional paella is a must (vegans, ask for no cheese). You’ll be hard-pressed not to find something that fits your veggie/vegan taste.

BLUE HOUND KITCHEN & COCKTAILS

The signature restaurant at the new Hotel Palomar in CityScape, Blue Hound offers up playful twists on veggie staples. Start with an appetizer of fried pickles made with tangy, yet sweet butter pickles. Don’t miss the small falafel bites served up with a spicy harissa dipping sauce — they’re moist like a hush puppy and perfectly filling.

FOCACCIA FIORENTINA

This family-owned local restaurant located in the historic Heard Building serves up breakfast and lunch during the week with plenty of made-to-order veggie and vegan options. Try their Greek omelet or vegetarian burrito made with eggs, spinach and mushroom. Don’t forget to try their addictive green salsa.

FAIR TRADE CAFE

Motivating and teaching people about how their food choices make an impact on the environment is what Fair Trade Cafe is all about. Chef Ingrid Hirtz’s vegetarian lunch menu changes every week and is 90 percent organic and local. They also serve breakfast and have vegan and gluten-free pastries.

BEST PLACE TO EAT HEALTHY: MY BIG FAT GREEK RESTAURANT

If you think you’ve got to be somewhere cold, wet and gloomy to find a great cup of coffee, Downtown Phoenix’s coffee houses can’t wait to prove you wrong. They roast their own beans, take brewing seriously and offer that extra something — from tasty eats to just being a cool place to linger — that will have you headed their way the next time a caffeine craving hits.

If you’re serious about coffee, CARTEL COFFEE LAB will impress you. Cartel’s Tempe store roasts beans from small farms in Central and South America for all the company’s locations. And Cartel is Arizona’s only independent coffee house with a Clover machine. Clover coffee is good: STARBUCKS — which has six locations Downtown — bought the company that makes the $11,000 machines. Cartel also serves an array of baked goods, several accented with bacon, all of which are half off after 12:30 p.m.

DUCK AND DECANTER’s flagship store got into the coffee business more than 20 years ago, and it shows. The Downtown location boasts a full espresso bar, including less-acidic toddy iced coffee, and serves all the Duck’s coffee blends on a rotating basis. Phoenix and Scottsdale roasters provide 80 percent of their coffee, including the house blend and Cafe Mexicana — a mix of Viennese cinnamon and French vanilla dusted with cocoa.

ONE COFFEE owner Damian Serafine is the most laid-back perfectionist you’ll meet. He spent 15 years perfecting an in-house roast named for his daughter, remembers regulars and offers friendly suggestions. On hot days, the iced vanilla latte is perfect. The espresso’s bitterness comes through, but the drink is smooth, without the cloying sweetness many lattes have. Check the daily special board for unique offerings.

ROYAL COFFEE BAR is everything you’d expect from an architect-owned coffee place: cozy yet comfortable, modern yet inviting. Royal’s menu isn’t overwhelmingly long, but every beverage is done right. Don’t be afraid to order a drip coffee here; it’s done by hand, not Mr. Coffee. The barista puts freshly ground beans into a funnel, sets it in a rack over your cup and pours hot water over the grounds.

If you’re in a rush, JACQUEE’S ESPRESSO GOURMET DELI AND CATERING serves up just-right espressos and sandwiches filled with premium Boar’s Head products, while JAVA CITY COFFEE BAR, located in the Chase Tower on Central Avenue, serves up coffee on the quick. Conventioneers and locals in the know head to CITY CENTRAL COFFEE for the made-from-scratch pastries and locally-roasted beans served with little to no wait.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

It's time to get out of the dorms.

College students in Downtown Phoenix are surrounded by dining options that offer delicious meals at a price that fits a student's budget. Whether you're looking for a quick lunch between classes or a place to study while grabbing a snack, a variety of businesses cater to the college crowd.

Students love pizza, but those Downtown don't have to settle for delivery. THE DOWNTOWN PIZZA LOUNGE keeps patrons comfortable with a sports bar-style atmosphere and great deals. Two slices of crunchy, thin-crust pizza and a drink cost only $7 and are served in just a few minutes. Z PIZZA is another option for pizza lovers. Don't miss their meat and veggie calzones.

CAFE ROMA, located in the Arizona Center, also serves up tasty pizzas, but its specialty is the array of sandwiches served on warm, soft bread. The pizza steak sandwich combines the best of both worlds — it has steak loaded with gooey cheese all on freshly baked Italian bread. The cold Italian sub features a medley of meats, lightly drizzled with a simple but delicious vinaigrette dressing.

Two slices of pizza at local favorite Z Pizza fit nicely in a student's budget. PHOTO: EVIE CARPENTER/DOWNTOWN DEVIL

For dessert, consider YOGURTINI, located in the center of Downtown at CityScape. This small, serve-yourself frozen yogurt shop offers a variety of toppings, including some odd ones, like gummy bears and Fruity Pebbles.

Cramming for finals? Escape the confines of your dorm room and study at a nearby coffee shop. Maybe it's the jolt of caffeine, or perhaps the intellectual chatter that wafts throughout Downtown's cafes, but these businesses always seem to provide an intellectual spark.

ROYAL COFFEE BAR, located a block north of ASU's campus at the PHOENIX PUBLIC MARKET, has coffee that's custom-made for brainstorming. You'd be hard-pressed to enter Royal without seeing at least one customer typing away on a laptop. FAIR TRADE CAFE at Civic Space Park, just across the street from ASU, is perfect for those looking for a quick coffee break. And its sandwich options — like the tasty egg salad sandwich — are a great choice for a healthy lunch.

For Phoenix's college crowd, the Downtown dining scene offers affordability, convenience and, most importantly, delicious food. The only thing students have to do is get out there and explore their options.

Drinks

Downtown Phoenix dining is about more than just what's on the plate. It's the atmosphere, the people and, of course, the drinks. From apple martinis to Zombies, our bars and restaurants have the perfect pour to fit your cocktailing needs.

The classic Manhattan at HANNY'S is simply Maker's Mark bourbon, sweet vermouth and bitters. Barrel-aged or standard, only serious whiskey drinkers need apply.

RIGHT: COPPER BLUES LIVE's ode to Neil Diamond, the Sweet Caroline, mixes Skyy dragon fruit vodka, cranberry and orange juice, and Liefman's fruitless berry beer to create a drink that's built for that time when spring became the summer. Indeed, the good times never seemed so good ... so good! so good! so good!

BELOW (CENTER): ICON LOUNGE at the Renaissance Phoenix Downtown is one of Downtown's best-kept secrets. If the top-shelf service isn't reason enough to visit, the Dragonberry Mojito certainly is. Muddled strawberries, lime, mint and simple syrup are mixed with Bacardi dragon berry rum and served with ice. Delicious.

ABOVE: No self-respecting list of signature drinks would be complete without a margarita and we recommend the Fish Bowl variety at STEVE'S GREENHOUSE GRILL. It comes in multiple colors, in case you want to match it with your handbag or shoes.

BELOW: The Polish Fix, or "adult snow cone," is a specialty at THE ARROGANT BUTCHER that combines lemon juice, simple syrup, raspberry compote and Belvedere vodka. Built over crushed ice, it's the perfect elixir for the dog days of summer.

ABOVE: The GINGERED Elegance at DISTRICT AMERICAN KITCHEN & WINE BAR won Best Garnish at the 2012 Devoured Bartender Competition. It features Tito's Vodka, lemongrass and ginger-infused simple syrup, and lemon and pineapple juice. After a good shake, it's all poured into a pineapple sugar-rimmed glass, garnished with candied ginger and lemongrass.

Girls'
Night Out

Province serves up beautiful drinks and group-friendly finger foods. PHOTO: JESS NICHOLS

Downtown Phoenix is packed with great places to eat, sip and be “scene.” Here are a few suggestions from a hometown girl for enjoying a ladies night out in my Downtown:

Your first stop is PROVINCE at The Westin Phoenix Downtown Hotel. The valet parking is the easiest, if you don’t live close. Toast the weekend and your girlfriends at happy hour on their patio with a refreshing $4 sangria and the shareable, bite-size appetizers.

After a sunset toast, a world-famous dinner at PIZZERIA BIANCO is just a few blocks away. While anticipating your oh-so-worth-the-wait Margherita Pizza, hop across Heritage Square and indulge in a fresh pint of Four Peaks Peach Ale at THE ROSE AND CROWN.

After filling up on the house-made mozzarella, take an easy-to-navigate-in-heels walk over to CityScape, where local favorites COPPER BLUES and THE ARROGANT BUTCHER serve up divine cocktails and make for great flirting or people watching.

Downtown boasts some great places to shimmy and shake off those pizza and cocktail calories. On a Friday night BAR SMITH is the place to catch Phoenix’s favorite DJs, including DJ William Reed and his new Blaque Panther Disco with partner Elise Welch. If live music sounds more appealing, check out CRESCENT BALLROOM, where indie acts play at a great price. Shows begin around 8 p.m. on the main stage and the music is free in the busy and hipster-packed lounge.

Dinner, dancing, now wait, don’t forget dessert. Late-night sweets are best at HANNY’S, where $7 gets you the sinful tiramisu. Lucky for you, it’s served until 1 a.m. in the swanky, historic building.

By 2 a.m. the choice to settle into a fabulous room at The Westin sounds better than cabbing home and missing a morning-after breakfast at THE BREAKFAST CLUB. Besides, waking up with a view of my Downtown is the perfect start to any weekend.

MIDNIGHT MEALS

Things are starting to blur. The late night delirium is under way. And then. Wham. Hunger. Images of burgers, french fries, burritos dancing in your head. Food. You must get food. The rumbling intensifies. You could eat a horse. Really. A horse.

BEFORE 12:00 A.M.

Fish and chips, mashed potatoes, chicken fingers. If this describes your cravings, head to SEAMUS MCCAFFREY’S IRISH PUB any day of the week or FRANK MURRAY’S TURF IRISH PUB or THE ROSE AND CROWN on weekends. They’ve got the hearty portions necessary to satisfy any drunk tooth.

BEFORE 1:00 A.M.

If you’re from the Southwest you want Mexican food. Burritos. Chips and salsa. Or, hey! nachos. Shuffle yourself over to CRESCENT BALLROOM and gorge on the burritos and crispy chips. For a chic, impress-your-friends experience — and the best BLT — check out HANNY’S. Both fine establishments are open late every day.

And then. Ah. The rumblings recede. The night goes on. PHOTO: JESS NICHOLS

Desserts

It's wild, untamed and insanely powerful. Some say it has a mind of its own.

It's your sweet tooth and it's yearning for something delicious. Luckily, we've endured the excruciating task of scoping out some of the best desserts Downtown Phoenix has to offer.

From martini glasses sitting upon the shiny marble tabletops to black leather couches lining the terrazzo floor, HANNY'S provides a swanky, modern and sophisticated atmosphere for dining and drinking. While it's tempting to devour every last bite of the irresistible pizzas, you'll miss out if you don't save room for the doughnuts. Slightly crispy on the outside, gooey on the inside and coated in sugar that sticks to your fingers and lips, the oddly-shaped treats resemble beignets. "We mixed in some classic recipes of doughnuts and then kind of tweaked it to get what we were looking for," says General Manager Alex Cuzzo. For a sweet taste, choose the strawberry sauce. For a rich flavor, go with the chocolate.

Speaking of chocolate, MAJERLE'S SPORTS GRILL boasts a sinful mousse cake so rich and creamy that it will please even the most devoted chocoholics. But Majerle's didn't stop there. The Chocolate Eruption is filled with cheesecake chunks, topped with caramel and almonds, drizzled in chocolate sauce and surrounded with dollops of whipped cream. It's OK if you're drooling. We won't judge you for that. We also won't judge you if you need to loosen your belt to finish it.

For something lighter, visit the DISTRICT AMERICAN KITCHEN AND WINE BAR inside the Sheraton Hotel. From pastry chef Winnona Herr comes another delectable flavor of whoopie pie — strawberry rhubarb. The three pies each consist of sweet filling sandwiched between two melt-in-your mouth, sugar-dusted cakes and are served with a small strawberry shake to wash them down. The pies rotate seasonally but Herr provides consistent quality whether she's making pumpkin, grasshopper, or any other pie flavor.

A newcomer to the Downtown dining scene, THE ARROGANT BUTCHER, which is just over 1 year old, boasts an acclaimed dessert. "It's a delicious, warm peanut butter mousse set with an island of chocolate gelato (that's) served with moist homemade peanut butter cookies topped with a chocolate dollop," says General Manager Peter Hearn. Enjoy the Warm Peanut Butter Cup in the urban and industrial, yet cozy and warm environment that caters to everyone from the guy sporting the mohawk to the businessman donning the three-piece suit.

Next time you must surrender to your ruthless sweet tooth, look no further than Downtown.
